About School Chale Trust

School Chale means Let's go to school, Indirectly speaking let's learn. School Chale Trust considers education as a fundamental tool to bring the equality and to live a dignified and happy life. And Considering the same, with all of its capabilities and capacities, the trust is promoting the cause of education. School Chale doesn't consider the biases of age, gender, caste or creed while promoting education but the trust has a special focus on the vulnerable children and all of its projects are designed keeping the children in mind. The trust keeps capacity building approach at the core and follows a horizontal hierarchal structure in its management.

The School Chale dream to see the world where everyone has perfected reading-writing-understanding at-least one language which could work as a tool for individual' personal and professional development. Moreover, the trust aims to promote the sustainability, harmony and peace through education.

The School Chale Trust started one of its flagship program Seher School on the date when Sir Syed Ahmed Khan was born. For the same reason, the third anniversary celebration of the Seher school and the work of School Chale Trust in past year are dedicated to Sir Syed Ahmed Khan. The work the School Chale Trust did in past one year include starting of a community development project which in the form of Pustakmala Community Library and felicitated the admission of more than 100 children in School. Also, many children from Seher School were also streamlined in the formal education.

Further, the School Chale Trust will also unveil the plans of one capacity building centre on the same day.
